THE subscribers inform the Public, that they have purchased of Doctor Wilkins his Receipt and the sole right to make and prepare his Pills, known by the name of Wilkins' Antibilious Pills. These Pills have been sold in this city, and the neighboring country for the last twelve years, and during that time have acquired a character for safe and effectual operation over all medicines of that class ever offered to the public. Their composition is known to and approved of by several of the most eminent physicians of this place. The subscribers, with a view to extend their sale in the country, and to render them an object to country druggists and others, have reduced their wholesale price very considerably; and to accommodate individuals, will furnish them for the future in whole boxes at 50 cents, and half boxes at 25 cents each.

Fan-Sash Making

METAL FAN-SASHES, of various descriptions, will be made by the subscriber, at his shop, lower end of Duke street. The want of a Metal Fan-Sash Manufactory in Alexandria, has hitherto been severely felt by builders and others, who have been compelled to make use of wood, which is neither elegant nor durable. The various forms into which the metal can be shaped have given it a decided superiority, and the difference in the price is very trifling. The subscriber has been at considerable expence in procuring the necessary preparations, and relies on public enterprise for success in the undertaking.

Gentlemen in the country, by sending the dimensions of their sashes, can have them made at the same price as in town.

Proposals

FOR Publishing by Subscription, and now ready for the press, a series of historical volumes, which when finished will assume the title of

Universal History Americanised;

Or, an historical view of Europe, Asia, Africa and America, from the earliest records to the nineteenth century—with a particular reference to the state of society, literature, religion, and form of government in the United States of America.

BY DAVID HANNAH, M. D.

"Life is so short and time so valuable, that it were happy for us if all great works were reduced to their quintessence."

PROSPECTUS.

The Asiatic part of this work contains a general view of the antediluvians—of the general deluge—of the re-settlement of the Globe after that great event—of the primitive postdiluvian nations which were formed in Asia, the cradle of the world. Their various ramifications, revolutions, and of the general course of Empire.

AFRICA.

The African part, contains a concise history of Egypt, Carthage, Numidia, Mauritania, Abyssinia, of the Prætorial States, and the Hortentots, with a grouped view of its uncivilized settlements.

EUROPE.

The European part, contains the history of Greece and Rome, from their origin to their dissolution—of the various nations which were conquered by them—and of the nations by which the Romans themselves were finally conquered, and of the nations which were formed from the fragments of the Roman Empire, and the various revolutions of the latter, together with a view of the nations which never were subjected to the Romans.

AMERICA.

The American part, contains a general history of the Western continent, under the heads of Free, European, and Aboriginal or unconquered America. The first contains a history of the United States, from their first settlement as English Colonies, till the present time.—The second, of all parts dependent on Europe.—And the third, of all that are still owned by the Aborigines.

It is expected that the whole will be comprised in 10 or 12 octavo volumes, of between four and five hundred pages each—to be printed in Philadelphia, on good paper and fair types, for $3 1-3 per volume, in sheep binding, or $4 1-3 Calf Gilt; to be paid for on delivery.

AUTHORITIES.

This work has been in contemplation upwards of 40 years. The project of it was conceived in 1786, on reading the Universal History, then recently edited in 60 volumes, by a society of gentlemen in England. The original idea of extracting the quintessence of that voluminous work, which contained the most complete system of history the world had then seen, has ever since been enlarging and improving by an extensive perusal of the histories written by Robertson, Hume, Gibbon, and other modern authors—of the Asiatic researches—of the works of Sir William Jones; and other learned Orientalists—the publications of intelligent travellers, who, in the course of the last half century have explored almost every region of the Globe. These collectively have thrown a blaze of light on countries comparatively unknown, and on portions, both of ancient and modern history which were confused and obscure at the period when the writers of the Universal History published their work. The arrangement of materials collected from these sources commenced in the year 1780, when, in consequence of the surrender of Charleston to Sir Henry Clinton, the author was suddenly released from a sea of business and sent as a prisoner of war to the British Garrison then in St. Augustine, and there confined for eleven months, without any peculiar employment. Steady progress has been made for the last ten years in correcting and transcribing the work for publication.

UNITED STATES.

The History of the United States is given at full length—that of foreign countries is more or less expended or contracted in proportion to the intrinsic importance of each—its tendency to illustrate portions of Holy Writ—the Greek and Latin Classics—and also in proportion to its connexion with the U. States, or as furnishing useful practical information to its citizens, or as the paternal soil of their ancestors.

The above sketch of the nature and objects of this immense work, which has occupied the attention of the Author for upwards of 40 years, was found among his papers, and is now given to the public in his own words. Since that period, a few chapters have been added by the Reverend SAMUEL STANFORD SMITH, which brings it down to the close of the last war.

The publication commences with a third impression of the History of the U. States, in three volumes, which is all that has ever appeared. The whole will not be delivered under 15 or 20 months. It is proper to state, that the gentlemen who have the direction of it are neither booksellers nor printers, and receive no pecuniary consideration for their trouble—but are willing to make the necessary advances to carry it into execution provided the sale is warranted by public patronage. The profits arising are to be appropriated for the support and education of his children, four of each sex: to them its success is a matter of deep importance.

BY THE EDINBURGH REVIEWERS.

"As it is a rule with Mr. Phillips," says the Reviewer, "that every sentence must look like an epigram; that point and antithesis must for ever appear in the words, though none may exist in the meaning; we are fatigued to death with the alternations of 'this' and 'that'—the one and the other—with jingling and alliteration—with words perverted to significations wholly foreign to their real meaning, by the figure commonly called slipshod, and of which Mrs. Malaprop was so bright an example, until some of our journalists threw her into the shade; and lastly and very generally with the figure of pure nonsense. Thus, take a specimen of alliteration—'a miserable maniac in the contentment of his captivity; unless peradventure, you rather choose the period approaching when if penalty does not pause in the pursuit, patience will turn short of the pursuer;—in which is to be noticed also the genuine nonsense of penury chasing patience, and patience turning and attacking penury;—nonsense, in part owing to the love of jingle, and in part to the rage for imagery."

"We have noticed Mr. Phillips's love of imagery; and all the greatest sins against good taste to which this passion leads its victims, are to be found committed by him in every part of his work. Confusion of metaphor—extravagance or violence, frequently exciting even disgust—absolute nonsense, and the defect of meaning so nearly a-kin to it.—Thus speaking of the Burke's, Barry's, and Goldsmith's, he says 'they wreathed the immortal shamrock round the brow of painting, poetry and eloquence.'—Of some poor children he observes 'that they may have a soul swelling with the energies, and stamped with the pat of the Deity?' whereby it appears that this learned person confounds the letters patent with the seal appended to them.—He adds, 'of the same soul it might bless, adorn, immortalize and ennoble empire.'—an anticlimax not often exceeded, and into which Mr. Phillips is clearly led by his determination always to use four or more words to express the same idea.—Again, of Mr. Curran—when thrones were crumbled and dynasties forgotten, he might stand the landmark of his country's genius, rearing himself amid regal ruins and national dissolution, a mental pyramid in the solitude of time, beneath whose shade things might moulder, and round whose summit eternity must play.' Surely the writer of this never saw a pyramid, or heard of the meaning of a land mark; but when he talks about the solitude of time, and the playing of eternity, we cannot even conjecture his meaning. Then, what shall we say of such exclamations as this frantic parody upon the scripture—'Oh, prejudice, where is thy reason? Oh, bigotry, where is thy blush?'—Or of this other, 'Gospel of Heaven, is this thy herald?—God of the universe, is this thy handmaid?'—Or again, 'shades of heroic millions, these are thy achievements!—monster of legitimacy, this is thy consummation!'—Whereunto the printer has added, somewhat maliciously, three several marks of admiration.—In one short sentence we have 'God's apostle a court appendage'—'God himself a court-purveyor'—'Omnipotence a menial'—and 'eternity a pander' (whatever that may denote)—besides several terrestrial figures.

In one oration (O'Mellan vs. M'Korkill) Mr. Phillips exceeds himself; and we doubt not it is the peculiar favorite of Mr. Finlay and himself. To give an adequate notion of the splendor of imagery which marks this finished specimen of modern eloquence, almost from the beginning to the end, we must cite nearly the whole of it, from the very exordium, in which we find something, non constat what, "poured upon the patriot by the venom of a vernal turpitude;" and are rather unexpectedly introduced into a place described as "the charnel house of crime—the sepulchre where corruption sits enthroned upon the merd it has murdered." But we fear our cold understandings are incapable of appreciating the beauties of this style. Let then a few specimens be presented to the reader; and if his imagination is naturally so ardent as to confound together all distinctions among ideas, or if, like those to whom some of the speeches were probably addressed, he happens at the moment to have procured that voluntary confusion of the brain which may be superinduced by a simple process, he may be delighted with what follows. The vernal writers of Ireland are thus depicted:

"The worst foes of government, under pretence of giving it assistance; the deadliest enemies to the Irish name, under the mockery of supporting its character; the most licentious, irreligious, illiterate banditti that ever polluted the fair field of literature, under the apollinated banner of the press. Bled with the public spoil, and blooded in the chase of character, no abilities can arrest, no piety can awe; no misfortune affect, no benevolence conciliate them; the reputation of the living and the memory of the dead are equally plundered in their desolating progress. Even the awful sepulchre affords not an asylum to their selected victim. Human Hyenas! they will rush into the receptacle of death, gorging their ravenous and brutal rapine amid the memorials of our last infirmity."

Of the liberty of the press.—"A theme which I approach with mingled sensations of awe, and agony, and admiration. Considering all that we too fatally have seen—all that perhaps too fearfully we may have cause to apprehend—I feel myself cling to that residuary safeguard with an affection so temptations can seduce—with a suspicion no anodyne can lull—with fortitude that peril but infuriates. In the direful retrospect of experimental despotism, and the hideous prospect of its possible re-animation, I clasp it with the desperation of a widowed female, who, in the desolation of her house and the destruction of her household, hurries the last of her offspring through the flames, at once the relic of her joy, the depository of her wealth, and the remembrancer of her happiness. It is the duty of us all to guard strictly this inestimable privilege—a privilege which can never be destroyed, save by the licentiousness of those who willfully abuse it. No, it is not in the arrogance of power; no, it is not in the artifices of law; no, it is not in the faultiness of princes; no, it is not in the venality of parliament, to crush this majestic privilege. Reviled, it will remonstrate; murdered, it will revive; buried, it will reascend; the very attempt at its oppression will prove the truth of its immortality, and the atom that presumed to spurn will fade away before the trumpet of its retribution."

Now, that Messrs. Finlay and Phillips deem this a very fine passage may be inferred from their having printed the latter half of it in a different type.

This dreadful malady for the cure of which so many specifics have lately been published, seems to have prevailed more during the last six or eight months, than ever known before in the same length of time. Various receipts were printed, headed "certain cure of Hydrophobia," all of which have been tried, some on men and on some beasts—on all with like effect. A youth about 14 years of age, was very lately bitten in Richmond, (Va.) To the wound the Indian Stone was applied, and other remedies used. In about six weeks, and after the wound was perfectly healed, the boy was seized with the disease, and died raving mad the fourth day after the attack.—He attended school regularly until the symptoms made their appearance without experiencing any uneasiness or unpleasant sensation. This statement furnishes another to the many that have come within our own knowledge, of the utter inefficacy of those articles which are said to be certain cures.

The Independence of Mind, says an intelligent and philosophical writer, lays the foundation of the Independence of Nations.—There is as much truth as eloquence in the observation. History is abundant in the testimony which it bears to the accuracy of this political aphorism. An ignorant and an unenlightened people—unk in the shade and degradation of moral and intellectual debasement, can never be free. A general diffusion of knowledge is the only source from which public spirit draws its essential vitality—the only foundation or rock on which a nation's Liberty can rest.

ALEXANDRIA: MONDAY, MAY 4, 1818.

The Columbian Insurance Company of Alexandria have been in operation for three years, and have paid to the stockholders seventy-three per cent. of their cash capital out of the profits.

From the Baltimore American, May 2.

FROM CAPT. HENRY (HAYT).
Advices have been received from Port-au-Prince to the 19th ult by the arrival last evening of the brig Homer, captain Thomas. On the 27th March ALEXANDER PETION, late President of Hayti, died, after an illness of 8 days, generally regretted by the natives and foreign merchants. On the 1st of April he was interred with great pomp and splendor, under the Liberty Tree, opposite the State House. The day previous JEAN P. BOYER was elected President by an unanimous vote of the Senate, and apparently to the satisfaction of all in that part of the island. Every thing remained tranquil, and business going on in its usual course. Markets dull for all kinds of American produce. Coffee was scarce and high—30 a 40 sous.

Morgan Neville, cashier of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Pittsburg, has offered a reward of three thousand dollars for the money of which the Bank was robbed, as has been previously mentioned, or one thousand dollars for the perpetrators of the robbery if brought to trial. The bank, in consequence of the late unfortunate transaction, has ceased its operations for the present; and the public are requested to use caution in the reception of those notes, as the cashier declares himself able to identify a large proportion of the stolen notes.

Richmond, April 28.

The trial of ROBERT GISSON, alias CARLTON, for the murder of Peatross, came on before Judge Brockenbrough, in the Superior Court of this county, on Friday the 17th instant, and on Saturday morning, the jury found him guilty of murder in the first degree. On the Monday following, Mr. Francis W. Gilmer, who had acted as his counsel, by the request of the court, stated that when the jury returned, he saw the former hand to the clerk, not only the indictment, but the record of the examining court, containing the depositions, or minutes of evidence taken in that court. The clerk, being called on, also stated that he believed the jury did return to him the record. These statements being sworn to, the counsel moved the court to award subpoenas to summon the jurors to appear, and declare on oath, whether they carried out with them those depositions. This motion gave rise to a discussion between the Attorney General and Mr. Gilmer, as to the propriety of interrogating the jurors, touching any part of their conduct. The court, after hearing the discussion, and examining the contradictory decisions of the English courts, and taking a view of the decisions on the subject in the Court of Appeals, decided that the jurors might be examined; that although the evidence of a small number of the jury, proving misconduct in them, had been judged insufficient to set aside a solemn verdict, yet the evidence of the major part of the jury, had been deemed sufficient to authorize a new trial; that although the danger of tampering with jurors was much to be apprehended, yet that danger was diminished, by increasing the number to be examined; that to refuse their evidence in all cases, was in effect, to shut out the light, very frequently from the only source, whence it could flow; that although examined, yet the court would not violate that rule of law by which every individual is protected from accusing himself, but that questions might be put to them, the answer to which would not lead to self accusation, and if they did, yet that the jurors might be disposed for the sake of justice, to waive their privilege. Process was accordingly awarded to bring the jurors before the court, and on Friday last seven of them attended. It appeared by their testimony, that the record containing those minutes of evidence, was handed to them by the clerk, together with the indictment: that ten of their number immediately concurred in finding the prisoner guilty, one doubted, and the other differed from his brethren: this was before a paper has been opened—finding they could not agree, in the course of that night and the next morning, some of the jury read a part of the depositions, and one read the whole; still no change was produced, nor was there any change till other strong testimony was heard in open court the next day, when they agreed.—They declared that no effect was produced on their minds by the depositions, and one of the two who disagreed, made the same declaration.

The judge gave his opinion on Saturday last, in which he said, that although he was satisfied the depositions got to the jury by an accident, for neither counsel nor court knew the fact, and the clerk by inadvertence, delivered the paper together with the indictment, yet that the mode of their obtaining it was a matter of no consequence, unless the prisoner had himself delivered it, in which case he could not take advantage of his own wrong: that if none of the jury had read either of the depositions, the verdict would probably stand, because in such case it was impossible it should have an effect; that point however he did not deem it necessary to decide. The jury, or some of them, had, however, read improper testimony. Every man, on a criminal trial, had a right to be confronted with his accusers and witnesses. On that principle, the written testimony of witnesses was excluded from the trials. The prosecutor would not offer such testimony to the court—the court would never receive it. If such evidence were received, the judgment would be reversed. Then surely a verdict ought not to stand, when the jury have received such illegal evidence without the consent or knowledge of the court. Altho' the jurors said that the depositions did not influence them, and the remaining jurors were probably of the same opinion, yet that its influence might be imperceptible to themselves: that the court must be governed by general principles, and that whenever illegal or unconstitutional evidence was received and read on criminal trials, the effect of that evidence could not be enquired into.—The verdict was therefore set aside, and a new trial awarded. This will take place at the September term next.

GENERAL THOMAS POSEY
Is no more! He died suddenly at Shawneetown, a few days since, at the residence of his son.—Among the revolutionary heroes who have passed the inexorable bourne, none were more deserving of regret than our late governor. As a patriot he was warmly devoted to his country; as a soldier, brave and enterprising; as a christian, pious and resigned. It is not uncommon, that bravery, like "charity covereth a multitude of sins." The character of the veteran Posey, required not the friendly protection of its mantle; like the adamant, it was firm and lucid, and reflected from every side the pure "uncolored ray" of light. General Posey served during the revolutionary war in the armies of his country, and distinguished himself particularly at the assault on Stoney Point, under the command of the gallant Wayne, being the first man who mounted the walls. He has since held a number of honorable and important appointments in the civil list of the United States. He was a senator in congress for some time, from the state of Louisiana, and afterwards the territorial governor of Indiana. At the time of his death he held the office of Indian Agent.—Few men have passed so useful and so blameless a life.

COMMUNICATED.
Departed this life on Tuesday evening, the 28th inst. after a long and tedious indisposition, Mrs. MARTHA M. J. WEYLIE, eldest daughter of Mrs. M. Robinson, of Annapolis, and relict of the late Rev. John V. Weylie.
The departure of the deceased will be most sensibly felt, and deeply lamented, by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance; and in the highest degree by those who knew her most intimately, and were best qualified to appreciate her superior worth and excellence. Every feature of her character was marked with a finished consistency—it was highly polished, and delicately feminine—devoid of affectation, it was controlled and regulated by a clear and discriminating judgment, and a rectitude and solidity of principle, which produced a calm dignity of action which could not fail of inspiring respect and esteem. To a mind richly endowed by nature, she united the advantages which education and literary pursuits confer—the result of the cultivation of her intellect was the attainment of much valuable and useful knowledge, of which she never made an ostentatious display, but which in the social circle of her friends rendered her at once its ornament and delight. The uncommon sweetness of her disposition—the warmth of her affection—the tenderness of her attachments, and the unwearied assiduity of her attention, served to bind, with more than ordinary strength, the bonds of love which connected her as a daughter, a sister, and a friend. Her piety was a deep, enlightened and effective devotion of the soul, which was manifested to those around her by the purity of her life, and the sanctity of her spirit.—Her death was tranquil and calm, as the peaceful slumbers of innocence—not a sigh or a struggle intimated her dissolution; and her afflicted friends, who knew the virtues of her life, may find a mitigation of their grief in the humble hope that the arms of everlasting love were spread beneath her, and that angels were appointed to convey her emancipated spirit from this vale of tears to the eternal abode of peace and joy. This feeble tribute is offered by one who knew her virtues and mourns her death.

HOUSES, LANDS, &c.

For Sale.

That very valuable FARM whereon I now reside, containing 628 acres, lying in the county of Fauquier, and State of Va. near the county road leading from Fauquier Court House to Dumfries, about ten miles from the former and twenty from the latter; about thirty from Falmouth, thirty-five from Alexandria, and six from the Buckland Mills, from whence there is a paved road to Alexandria. Any person wishing to vest their money in this kind of property, will find it their interest to call and view this property. There is a large supply of timber conveniently situated, lying at each end of the Farm. There is now a small meadow on it, which produces very abundant crops of grass; there is fifty acres more adjoining, which is equally adapted to the growth of Timothy; the clover has been tried here with great success, without the aid of plaster, which has never been applied, but from experiments which have been made on the adjoining farms, it is ascertained that plaster acts with as much power here as in any other part of the state. This property is well situated to divide, and may be divided to suit purchasers, which would make two farms of 314 acres each, as it may be so divided by running a line from North to South, as to give each lot a full supply of timber; the improvements of one lot are, a comfortable dwelling house with five rooms and a large closet, a portion on one side and a porch on the other, two brick and one stone chimneys, a kitchen and smoke house, with other necessary out-houses; a wall of excellent water in the yard; also, a young apple orchard, containing 110 trees of choice fruit of different kinds. The other lot has a house with four rooms and a passage, which with a trifling expense may be made very comfortable; a wall of excellent water in the yard, and an extensive apple orchard of bearing trees, forward and latter fruit of various kinds. I consider this orchard worth $300 per year. It is deemed unnecessary to say more, as it is presumed, that persons wishing to purchase, will view the premises and judge for themselves. If this property is not disposed of at private sale previous to the 30th day of May next, which would be preferred, it will on that day be exposed to public sale—the sale to commence at 11 o'clock, if fair; if not, the next fair day—terms made known in the day of sale, which will be easy. Any persons wishing to view this property, can be shown it by the subscriber, living on it. After the sale of the above property, will be offered to the highest bidder, all my stock of cattle, sheep, and hogs; household and kitchen furniture, all of excellent quality; plantation utensils, &c. &c.

350 Acres of Land for sale.

The subscriber wishes to sell 350 acres of LAND in the upper part of Prince William county, Va., lying immediately on the road leading from Haymarket to Leesburg, and about 3 miles from Aldie mills, from which latter place there is a turnpike road to Alexandria, distant 33 miles. One half of this farm is covered with a heavy growth of timber, such as white oak, black oak, hickory, locust, &c. The buildings are all new and in good order. As there is a saw mill erecting on an adjoining farm the timber may be converted into plank with convenience. This land is well watered, and none more susceptible of improvement or better adapted to the use of clover and plaster. Persons desirous of purchasing would do well to call and see it, as a great bargain may be had. For terms apply to the subscriber living on the premises.

N. B. If this land is not sold before the first day of October next, it will then be offered at public sale.

Land for Sale.

THE Subscriber wishes to dispose of the whole or a part of a tract of LAND, containing between 6 and 700 acres, lying within 5 miles of Alexandria and 4 and a half from the Washington bridge, and divided into four parts by the Leesburg road and the turnpike from the Washington bridge to the Little River turnpike. No. 2, containing about 80, and No. 3 about 150 acres, lay nearest to Alexandria, and are entirely covered with a young growth of hickory and oaks with some wood—these three parts lay admirably for cultivation, and the latter has on it one of the finest springs in the county. No. 4 has on it a two story frame house with two large rooms on a floor, kitchen, laundry and smoke house, together with several tenements, one of which, situated at the junction of the two roads, is an excellent wagon stand, well known by the name of Bont's Tavern. LEE'S MEDICINE STORE,
No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mild est purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebrator or large round worm; the Ascarides or small saw-worm; the Cucurbitaria or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Taenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to a tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes leaving food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number who in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of

BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS

HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than can be expressed in words. It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every reason to believe that he has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness of the stomach and severe head-ache—ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ring-worms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.
